

ALBINO PAPA

RESUME

Albino Papa has graduated in Graphic Design by the School of Design of Minas Gerais State University and has worked for some of the most important agencies and design offices in Belo Horizonte, such as ID&A Comunicação and Voltz Design

In the two years of work at Voltz, Papa developed all the promotional material, releases, invitations and free gifts for Ronaldo Fraga's fashion shows. He also created the fashion catalogues for Lei Básica, Lei Básica Kids and the visual identity for Madame V.

The designer was part of the Design Team of Disritmia, a local brand. He created the patterns, products and accessories.

With a fashion background, he established a unique look in his works. Papa uses the colours at his service. Saturation, contrasts, politically incorrect use of colours, tailored exaggeration, excessive minimalism and the baroque vein are in most of his projects.

Albino Papa also has got expressive work as illustrator. His first exhibition took place in 2001 at Diamond Mall, in Belo Horizonte. The "Supermodel Series" presented 14 illustrations made from famous models' faces. His drawings also featured in the local edition of the project "Ellus 2nd Floor".

Back in 1997, Papa entered the School of Design, and the following year, he was already a member of the Design Laboratory at the University. There, he developed a series of projects concerning the Government of the State of Minas Gerais.

In 1999, the designer took a position in the marketing management at Diamond Mall, giving his contributions to the construction of the mall's new website, in a partnership with Bolt Interativa. This particular work conquered the Grand Prix in the 2nd Yearbook of Minas Gerais' Advertisement Creation Club.

When working at ID&A Comunicação, Papa worked in many projects, such as the visual identity of the own company (Silver Prize in the Yearbook of Minas Gerais' Advertisement Creation Club, in the category Design) and the promotional material of SET Produtora (Second place in the Prize of the Columnists).
